About This Directory

This book is one of three regional editions of the 2022 Guide to Private Home Care Services, a directory published by the Home Care Alliance of Massachusetts. It is designed to introduce families to private home care services and help them select the best agency to meet their needs.

This introduction describes private home care, how to pay for it, what various forms of accreditation and certification mean, and how to select an agency. The county-by-county section that begins on page 7 sorts agencies geographically, gives some basic information about each, and provides a cross-reference to their full profiles beginning on page 17. In all, this directory lists a total of 99 home care agencies.

Additional copies of this directory—as well as its regional counterparts—are available at no charge at www.thinkhomecare.org/directories or by calling (617) 482-8830. Those who make regular home care referrals might also consider our full directory, the Home Health Resource Directory or our online search at www.thinkhomecare.org/agencies.

Think Home Care!

Many people need help maintaining their independence in their later years. Though families and friends are often the first source of assistance, outside help is sometimes necessary. When that happens, local home care agencies can be true allies.

Every day in Massachusetts, home care agencies help tens of thousands of people live safely—and better—at home. Their compassionate and professional approach supports family and friends, respects client wishes, ensures privacy, and increases independence and safety.

Though health insurance and public programs like Medicare and Medicaid often pay for home care following hospitalizations or during acute illnesses, they do not cover chronic or supportive home care services. Private care agencies, however, specialize in these situations.

What Is Home Care?

Given the option, most people prefer care for in the comfort and dignity of their own homes. Fortunately, many types of service that were once only available in professional facilities can now be done at home. Home care—both in its medical and non-medical forms—is now an essential component of our health and long-term-care sectors, quietly serving millions of Americans at home, where they most want to be.

Formal home care started here in Massachusetts when public health nurses began travelling to patients' homes to care for the sick, instruct families, and comfort the dying. Though home care continues to provide these services, changing family dynamics, new client needs, and technological advances have expanded its repertoire.

Today, home care encompasses a wide array of services but—at its core—always involves aides, therapists, and nurses providing care and assistance in clients' residences. Depending on the situation, home care can include everything from occasional help with household chores, to daily help with dressing and bathing, to around-the-clock medical care.

For example, some people use home care briefly to recover from injuries or hospitalizations. Others use it to supplement services from assisted living or retirement communities. Still others use it to remain healthy and independent at home, despite chronic illness or diminished capabilities. In all these situations, good home care recognizes that each client requires an individualized care plan. Services vary, but the objective is always to support independence and allow the client to remain at home.

How Do I Assess My Needs?

It's best to determine what kind of care you need before beginning your search. Do you need skilled care from a nurse or a therapist? How about personal care services, such as help with bathing and dressing? Are there mental health issues? Does your home need to be made safer and more accessible? How often—and for how long—will you need care? Is your situation likely to change in the near future? Once you've identified your needs, it's much easier to select an agency to meet them.

Home care agencies have staff with expertise in assessing client needs and developing plans of care, usually at no charge. These professionals can also help you negotiate the maze of care resources and effectively communicate your needs to physicians, hospital staff, and nursing home managers. When appropriate, they can also help emotionally resistant clients understand and accept services.

Depending on your scope of need, a client or family may also want to work with an independent Aging Life Care Professional or geriatric care manager. These trained professionals can assess needs, find resources, and monitor services. A full list of Aging Life Care Professionals in the region is available at www.aginglifecarene.org.

The state's Aging Service Access Point (ASAP) network is also a good resource. ASAPs are publicly-funded, local organizations that provide information and referrals for a range of elder services. Information is available at (800) AGE-INFO, or by visiting www.800ageinfo.com.

Third: Explore Payment Options

The simplest way to pay for home care is to do so privately; i.e., out of pocket, as you would for any other service. This affordable option maximizes your flexibility and control over your care without requiring you to coordinate with third parties. All of the agencies listed in this directory accept private payment and will work with you to coordinate arrangements and billing.

However, government programs and private insurance will pay for home care under specific circumstances:

Medicare covers home care when the client: 1) Cannot leave home without physical assistance; 2) Is under a physician's care; and 3) Requires skilled nursing or therapy services. MassHealth, the state's Medicaid program, covers home health for low-income individuals under similar requirements.

The Massachusetts Home Care program provides state-funded, non-medical services to elders and disabled individuals who meet certain financial guidelines. These services enable elders to remain in their homes and target those at risk of needing nursing home care. They can be accessed through the ASAPs mentioned above.

Commercial health insurance typically covers some home care services when a person is recovering from injury, surgery, or temporary illness, but generally does not pay for chronic conditions. Benefits vary from plan to plan and usually contain a cost-sharing provision. Check your policy and insurer for details on coverage requirements, benefits, co-payments, and deductibles.

Long-term care (LTC) insurance policies almost always cover home care as an alternative to nursing homes. The benefits under these policies are usually capped at a certain dollar level per day, week, or month; as always, check your policy. This directory's county-by-county cross-reference indicates which agencies accept most LTC insurances.

Fourth: Know About Agency Accreditation

While most states offer a specific license for private pay home care agencies, Massachusetts does not. In order to establish quality standards and help consumers make informed choices, the Alliance created an Agency Accreditation Program with standards similar to those for licensure in most other states.

The accreditation program includes fifteen standards relating to: Client rights, privacy, and complaint procedures; Protections against abuse; Fair employment practices; Caregiver background screening; Competency, training, and supervision; Insurance coverage; and Compliance with all applicable federal, state, and local laws.

The Alliance only accredits agencies that meet or exceed all fifteen standards. Look for the round accreditation logo throughout the Agencies section that begins on page 16.

Accreditation is not the only indicator of an agency's competence. All Medicare certified agencies, for instance, must meet strict standards established by the federal government. To learn more, about the Accreditation Program, visit www.thinkhomecare.org/accreditation.

Fifth: Find & Interview Agencies

Use this directory to narrow your search to a handful of candidates. Next, review the remaining prospects' websites and consult with medical professionals as necessary. Finally, interview the finalists over the phone.

Agencies listed in this guide should answer all of the following questions:

- ☐ Does the agency have literature describing its services, fees, and billing? If so, will they send you copies?
- ☐ Does the agency work with the client to develop a written plan of care or service contract? If so, how often is this plan updated?

- ☐ Does the agency directly employ its workers or are they independent contractors? (They should be directly employed.)
- ☐ Does the agency pay workers' compensation insurance and payroll taxes for its workers?
- ☐ Has the agency been accredited or certified by another organization?
- ☐ Does the agency provide a written list of client & family rights?
- ☐ How does the agency screen and evaluate their employees?
- ☐ Are caregivers, supervisors, and backup available 24/7/365?
- ☐ How does the agency investigate complaints and/or resolve conflicts between its staff and clients?
- ☐ Can the agency document that it carries professional & general liability insurance?
- ☐ Will the agency provide a list of local references?

About the Alliance

The Home Care Alliance of Massachusetts, Inc. is a non-profit organization that promotes home care as an integral part of the health care system. The Alliance represents more than 180 agencies and is the definitive voice for home care in Massachusetts for more than 50 years.

The Alliance builds public awareness of home care, helping citizens of the Commonwealth understand the scope of services available and how to make wise health care choices. It monitors issues that affect the industry and fosters ongoing communication with government officials to ensure that oversight of home care is developed with industry input. It fosters cooperation among agencies and keeps them informed of regulatory and marketplace forces that affect them and their clients.

The Alliance's subsidiary—the Foundation for Home Health—provides educational programs, workshops, and online trainings for our members' staff. These programs sharpen clinical skills and help agencies function in an ever-changing and complex marketplace. To learn more about upcoming programs, visit www.thinkhomecare.org/education.

The Agency Advantage

Many families ask why they should work with a home care agency rather than hiring a nurse or aide themselves. The answer is that agencies provide significant benefits over direct hires in the areas that matter the most to those receiving care.

Employer Obligations: By hiring an aide or nurse directly, you take on the legal responsibilities of an employer, including payroll taxes, workers' compensation, and unemployment insurance. Working with an agency alleviates you of these responsibilities.

Peace of Mind: Agencies are required to conduct criminal background checks and have access to comprehensive data generally unavailable to the public.

Security & Contingency: Agencies are required to carry various forms of insurance — such as workers' compensation and liability — to protect you. Additionally, an agency can quickly provide a replacement if your aide or nurse is sick, injured, or changes jobs.

Training & Supervision: Agencies have resources to ensure their workers are thoroughly trained in every service they perform, including infection control, falls prevention, emergency preparation, and personal care tasks.
